Visit the Spring Flowers

at Clapham Park Wood

north of Bedford, east of Clapham Green

Walk could be muddy and on uneven ground

10.30 to 12.30

This ancient woodland is a county wildlife site and is first mentioned in records going back to the 1270s. It contains a mixture of trees predominantly Ash, Oak, Maple, Elm, Hornbeam and Hazel.

The woods were extended in the late 1990s. It has a rich history with earthworks possibly dating from the Iron Age. It has been used as a deer park and part of the wood contains ridge and furrow earthworks. It has a good show of spring woodland flowers.

NB We hope that we have picked a sensible date when the flowers are flowering!

Park at the car park in Ashmead Road
