The Walled Garden

Luton, Bedfordshire

The 5 acre Luton Hoo Estate Walled Garden was designed by Capability Brown and established by noted botanist and former Prime Minister, Lord Bute in the late 1760s. The Walled Garden is now the focus of an incredible volunteer project and continues to be researched, restored, repaired and re-imagined for the enjoyment of all.

Features and Attractions

Unique service buildings inc a vinery, fernery and propagation houses.
Exhibition of Victorian tools.

Press and Media Coverage

The Walled Garden has featured on an episode of Country File with John Craven, where the connection with the training of Land Girls during WW2 was revealed and explored.
